National Tracking Poll

Topline Report   May 02-05, 2019

Question	Response	Frequency	Percentage
NMA2	America's mining industry is one of the most heavily-regulated in the world, with an extensive mine permitting process that has caused the U.S. to rely on imports for minerals that we could be sourcing at home. Some in Congress are considering adding additional regulations on mining by revising the General Mining Law to add additional fees on industry, place even more minerals-rich lands off-limits to mining, and further disadvantage the U.S. against other countries.How concerned are you about America's increased reliance on imports for minerals that are critical to our nation's manufacturing and defense?
	Very concerned	525	24%
	Somewhat concerned	843	38%
	Not too concerned	354	16%
	Not at all concerned	97	4%
	Don't know/No opinion	381	17%

Note: Group proportions may total to larger than one-hundred percent due to rounding. All statistics are calculated for registered voters with demographic post-stratification weights applied.
